

A Pathway to Diverse Career Opportunities

A graduate of St. Andrews' Bachelor of Arts in Health Services Administration* program has the business skills and healthcare knowledge to apply for entry level administrative/managerial positions in a diverse range of healthcare facilities including:

- Hospitals
- Healthcare agencies
- Managed care organizations
- Medical practice management
- Health insurance companies
- Nursing home and residential facilities

Prepare with an Education to Enter, Grow, and Advance Your Career in the Dynamic Healthcare Industry

The St. Andrews' Bachelor of Arts Degree in Health Services Administration (BAHSA)* prepares students to improve the quality and efficiency of healthcare delivery in diverse provider settings within the healthcare industry. Health services professionals manage medical information and healthcare staff. They make hiring decisions and lead a team of healthcare workers. They make strategic decisions, lead projects, and manage budgets through their understanding of healthcare trends, quality assurance, ethical issues, public policy, management of key financial metrics, and risk management.

Students work closely with academic advisors to choose electives, as well as campus and community activities that meet their interest, round out their education in a liberal arts setting, and build a strong resume. The BAHSA degree* offers a capstone research project that integrates acquired healthcare knowledge, business skills, legal and ethical foundations, strategic and critical thinking, and leadership in healthcare organizations. The dynamic degree in BAHSA* at St. Andrews prepares the graduate for an ever-changing healthcare industry.

*St. Andrews University, a branch of Webber International University, has an application for licensure of the BAHSA pending before the University of North Carolina Board of Governors and that licensure is required prior to the start date of the BAHSA.
